

I depend on the U.S. Postal Service to receive some critical medications that would cost far more if I ordered them through a pharmacy. And I also depend on the Postal Service to participate in elections as I serve as a poll worker and need to mail an absentee ballot.

There is no commercial service that can even come close to the price and efficiency of the U.S. Postal Service.